What is PREVIEWS?

PREVIEWS is part magazine, part catalog—a "mag-alog" of all comics and pop-culture merchandise found at your local comic shop.

We've broken down the product listings by easy-to-understand sections: Comics & Graphic Novels; Books; Trading Cards; Toys, Statues & Models, and more.

Each month, you'll find detailed listings for almost every comic book and pop-culture product that will be available in comic shops in 2 months. So, if you're looking at the April issue of PREVIEWS, most items will be in comic shops sometime in June.

How do I order from PREVIEWS?

Ordering from PREVIEWS is easy! There are 3 simple ways to order:

1 Use the Short Order Form.
Fill in with the items you'd like to order from this issue.

2 Ask for the companion Customer Order Form.

Many retailers offer a "pull & hold" or subscription service where you can order your monthly comics and merchandise easily. They'll hold your orders for you and you can pick up your items when it's convenient for you! Be sure to ask your retailer to give you a copy or PREVIEWS, Marvel PREVIEWS, and the PREVIEWS Customer Order Form each month so you can place your orders easily!

SCI-FI FUN FOR ALL!

EDITOR'S note

Coined by Forrest J Ackerman, the late great editor of Famous Monsters of Filmland, the term "Sci-Fi" was Forry's way of shortening, and personalizing, the genre he both loved and worked in (Forry was a literary agent for many years, representing over 200 writers).

This month's issue of PREVIEWS honors and endorses the amazingly diverse worlds of graphic Sci-Fi, with dozens of new and backlist titles flagged with our "SCI-FI" icon . Look for it throughout this issue for some great reads!

Topps also celebrates the 50th anniversary of Mars Attacks with an all-new comic book series from IDW Publishing, as well as an anniversary re-release of the original card series with plenty of bonus and chase cards to satisfy even the most jaded of collector's. Topping off the celebration of this landmark Sci-Fi franchise are a host of new collectibles in our Toys and Collectibles & Novelties sections! Ack! Ack!

And speaking of Mars Attacks, don't miss our exclusive interview with Len Brown, one of the men behind the original series, interviewed in this very issue in our Trading Cards section!

Finally, with 2012 being the year that many believe will be our last, we've dug deep into comic book antiquity to uncover some of the comics' most spectacular and earth-shattering (literally!) doomsday covers! From Atomic War to Kamandi to Weird Science… no scenario is left unchecked as we destroy the earth three ways to Sunday… or at least December 21, 2012.

That's all for me this month. Time to beam back to the Mart-Cave and get to playing Mass Effect 3… Shepherd can't defeat the Reapers all by himself, can he?!

Your Pal @ PREVIEWS,

Marty

We all died a little inside when NBC decided to put Community on hiatus. But it's back, and better than ever! And better still, they've launched a series of animated webisodes at the show's official website! Titled, "Abed's Master Key," it's the Community gang like you've never seen them before!

Superheroes, redefined. Project: Rooftop is a fairly recent new site where cartoonists and illustrators can bring their costume design skills to task in tribute to the superheroes and villains we've all grown to know and love, no matter how they dress. This site challenges artists, pro and neophyte alike, to treat the idea of superhero costume redesigns as a skill, specific to superhero media. They also aim to foster continued interest for these amazing characters and spotlight up-and-coming creators.

This month's featured creators is...

DOUG PASZKIEWICZ

Douglas Paszkiewicz is a ten year veteran in the comic book and magazine industry. As a writer and illustrator he has done work for MAD Magazine, Image Comics, Too Much Coffee Man Magazine, and a host of other national publications, including his own independently published comic, Arsenic Lullaby.

In his own words...

I don't sleep very well, and I have almost no idea what is going on in the pop culture. You name a popular movie or TV show and I probably haven't seen it. That, along with a lot of hard work, is why my work is so original and offbeat. It is pretty tough to be influenced by anything or travel down a similar road as anything else being done when you have no idea what is being done.

I don't set out to shock anyone or push any boundaries, I just write things that make me laugh and hope there are enough people out there who find those same things funny. So far it has worked out.

What are your favorite projects you've contributed to over the past decade?

I would say contributing to MAD Magazine is not only a thrill but a lot of fun. At first I thought having an editor to answer to would be sort of a drag but it turned out to be just the opposite. As an independent publisher I have no net, no security blanket, no one to make sure I am putting the right spin on the ball. It is a relief to have people who know what they are doing around to give you some input. Especially when it comes to writing comedy.

I had a lot of fun making Arsenic Lullaby short animated cartoons. Being able to add sound and voices was like taking the training wheels off. So much of writing a comic book involves worrying about the timing and how much you can fit on a page. With animation, if you want things to move slower…you just slow it down.

What are you currently working on?

I am currently working on Arsenic Lullaby Cartoons. A full-length DVD of these shorts should be available through PREVIEWS near the end of summer. I'm also putting together another issue of Arsenic Lullaby…a lot of the things I send to MAD get turned down because they are simply too abrasive and dark even for them — no sense in letting those go to waste!

Doug Paszkiewicz, what are you currently reading?

Let me start with Three Fingers (STAR16313) and The King (MAY053049) from Top Shelf and Rich Koslowski. These books are well drawn, well thought-out, smartly written and very, very funny. For flat out good, original storytelling these may be the cream of the crop.

For sheer fun there is Dork Tower (NOV100852) by John Kovalic. Dork Tower is very much "Charlie Brown meets the world of Gaming". The characters are funny, charming and it is strangely uplifting; I often wonder what writing something uplifting must feel like. I'll bet John sleeps much better than I do…

One guy I know who doesn't is Raven Gregory the man behind Tales from Wonderland (JUL101202) from Zenescope. Wonderland is everything your id is looking for: scantily-clad women, violence, macabre twists and turns, all wallowing in the setting of a familiar fairy tale.

THERE'S "NO GOING BACK" FOR DR. CURT CONNORS

Pushing back the boundaries of human knowledge at times carries with it great costs. Peter Parker, when exposed to the accidental bite of an irradiated spider, found his life forever changed as he developed arachnid powers. Yet Peter could count himself lucky — he could hide his powers beneath the mask of Spider-Man and live an otherwise normal life. But some had their lives destroyed by science, and this summer Spider-Man returns to Earth and finds himself caught between two victims of the scientific frontier in "No Going Back!," the new storyline beginning in June's Amazing Spider-Man #688!

Spider-Man has gone to the ends of the Earth, and now he finds himself in the middle of an intensely personal battle as two of his most tortured foes, one of whom — Dr. Curt Connors — he considers a friend and mentor, reach a turning point in their lives. Dan Slott continues his acclaimed run on Amazing Spider-Man with artist Giuseppe Camuncoli for a story arc in which Spider-Man and his foes may discover that there truly is "No Going Back!" from a science experiment gone horribly wrong.

Dr. Curt Connors, for instance, was not as lucky with his experiment as Peter Parker. An amputee, Connors attempted to harness the regenerative power of a lizard and regrow his lost limb. Had his experiment worked, his technique would have had far-ranging applications, from improving the life of veterans and other amputees to growing new organs for transplant that would not be rejected. Connors' experiment, however, transformed him into a monstrous brute of a monster, the Lizard. Likewise, Dr. Michael Morbius attempted to cure his own affliction, that of a rare blood disease, but the cure he developed was worse than his disease for Morbius now had to digest human blood like a vampire and suffered from an aversion to sunlight. However, Morbius may have found a cure for both his condition and Dr. Connors's in Horizon Labs, but will this cure restore their humanity — or will it transform them into something far worse?

With the Lizard appearing in this summer's blockbuster movie The Amazing Spider-Man, this storyline is certain to capture the film's excitement and entice new readers while giving long-time Spider-fans a powerful story starring two of Spider-Man's classic foes. With Dan Slott at the keyboard and Giuseppe Camuncoli at the drawing table, Amazing Spider-Man #688's "No Going Back!" will undoubtedly be one of the top Spider-events of the year!

DON'T PANIC, IT'S A LOST DOCTOR WHO ADVENTURE

In the 1950s humanity took its first tentative steps into space, only to see its home invaded by evil aliens from Mars! The story of humanity's darkest hour was chronicled in the Mars Attacks trading cards of 1962, and this summer they return in Topps' Mars Attacks! Heritage Trading Cards which reproduces the original 55-card set along with brand-new cards from an all-star line-up of artists!

MARS ATTACKS IS BACK, AND TRADING CARDS WILL NEVER BE THE SAME

CAN COMICS WITHSTAND THE MIGHT OF MARS ATTACKS?

Lurid and demented, Topps' Mars Attacks cards took the world by storm in 1962. Tapping into the cultural zeitgeist of the Cold War, science fiction B-movies, and the start of the Space Age, Mars Attacks told, over the course of its 55 cards, the story of humanity's near subjugation by homicidally evil hyper-encephalic aliens from Mars who found new and creative ways of destroying human civilization while also kidnapping its women for horrible experimentation. Fifty years later, in 2012, the Martians return for another round of conquest in IDW Publishing's Mars Attacks #1!

Shipping with 55 covers, each reproducing the front and back of the original Mars Attacks cards from 1962, Mars Attacks is written by Chew's John Layman and drawn by Hitman's John McCrea, two creators who are themselves no strangers to the lurid and the demented. Collectors can also get all 55 covers, plus a bonus 56th cover in the special Mars Attacks Complete Comic Book Box Set which is itself a replica of the box that the trading card packs came in fifty years ago.

Earth will be invaded again this June in IDW Publishing's Mars Attacks #1.

Get out your Slim Whitman records, put "Indian Love Call" on the stereo, and settle in as John Layman and John McCrea spin a lurid and demented tale of alien invasion this summer!

Twenty years ago seven of the top artists in comics joined forces to create a brand-new superhero universe with some of the most innovative characters ever seen — Rob Liefeld's Youngblood, Erik Larsen's The Savage Dragon, Marc Silvestri's Cyberforce, Jim Valentino's ShadowHawk, Jim Lee's WildC.A.T.s, and, of course, Todd McFarlane's Spawn — all under the banner of their new venture, Image Comics. This June, McFarlane and Image Comics celebrates the 20th-anniversary of the Image Age of Comics with Spawn #220!

McFarlane returns as the writer of the series he launched in 1992 with an oversized anniversary issue that chronicles a turning point in the life — or rather, afterlife — of the newest man to wear the mantle of Spawn, Jim Downing. With his life a mystery and his powers inexplicable, Downing will find answers to long-standing questions about Spawn's role in the universe and his own part in the story, answers that will forever change the way readers perceive one of the central characters of the Image Universe. McFarlane and artist Szymon Kudranski provide a capper to the first twenty years of Spawn while also setting the stage for the next twenty. And to help celebrate the anniversary, McFarlane also provides three covers to Spawn #220. In addition to a regular cover, McFarlane pays homage to Image Comics' history with covers done in the style of Larsen's The Savage Dragon #1 and Liefeld's Youngblood #1.

Join Todd McFarlane and Image Comics for an celebration twenty years in the making with Spawn #220 this June!

Acclaimed for a body of work that marries the epic with the intensely personal, Brian Wood is one of the most exciting writers working in comics today. His series DMZ looked at a near-future where the United States had fractured and Manhattan was caught in between, while Northlanders explored a thousand years of Viking history and culture by dramatizing the stories, big and small, of a hard people from a harder land who conquered the world. This summer, Wood returns to a future dystopia in The Massive, a new ongoing series from Dark Horse Comics, that explores a world in which civilization has faltered, the apocalypse has happened, the world has crashed, and all that remains are the oceans.

For the crew of the Kapital, a ship captained and crewed by a group of environmentalists, the collapse of civilization and the consequent climatic upheaval leaves them in a precarious situation. Their sister ship, the Massive, is missing. Other ships trawl the ocean's surface and prey upon the vessels they find. When the ship you call home is all that remains of home, where is the hope for the future? In The Massive, Wood and artist Kristian Donaldson combine the wide ranging scope of Wood's best work with the intensely personal focus that has been his hallmark to create a series that will resonate in this time of warnings of climate change, overpopulation, famine, and global pandemic.

Following on its first appearances in the page of Dark Horse Presents, The Massive begins its ongoing run this June!

Bandai expanded the world of their Tales video games with Tales of Vesperia: The First Strike, an animated prequel film to Tales of Vesperia, the tenth game in the series. Two childhood friends join forces to investigate a mystery that threatens their world in a compelling film that will captivate any fan of the long-running game series!

Two artists, David Horvath and Sun-Min Kim, met and fell in love. On one letter, David sketched out a character, Wage, which Sun-Min then turned into a plush doll, and thus the Uglydolls were born. To celebrate ten years of Uglydolls, they are releasing the Wage 10th-Anniversary Uglydoll Plush, giving every Uglydoll collector the chance to own their own replica of the original Uglydoll!

THE TENTH DOCTOR RETURNS IN A DYNAMIC NEW STATUE

For four years David Tennant piloted the TARDIS through space and time and incredible adventures as the tenth Doctor in the BBC's hit series Doctor Who. IDW Publishing brought the tenth Doctor to American comics readers with Doctor Who #1 in February 2008 from fan-favorite Doctor Who writer Gary Russell and acclaimed Transformers artist Nick Roche. In Roche's artwork, the tenth Doctor became angular and spiky, and Roche's dynamic artwork captured the boundless energy of David Tennant's portrayal of the Doctor. Big Chief's Doctor Who: Tenth Doctor Dynamix Vinyl Figure takes Roche's interpretation of Tennant's Doctor to create a stunning figure that is limited to just 3,000 pieces worldwide and will be a unique addition to the collection of any Doctor Who fan!

Immersing himself in the Reset project, washed-up actor Guy Krause explores the original "open world" game of his own imagination! However, the corporate (possibly government) lab technicians who are running the Reset experiments need Guy to tone down on the fun and get back to dealing with his "life issues." Being a guinea pig for science has oddly boosted Guy's confidence—so much, in fact, that he boldly asks a lifelong secret crush out on a date!

Just in time for the fall presidential election, Mat Johnson, acclaimed writer of INCOGNEGRO, delivers a race-against-time political thriller about a militia group that's plotting to assassinate the second African-American President of the U.S.

In the week leading up to a major campaign speech, the Secret Service discovers that an extremist militia group is plotting to assassinate America's second African American President. The best chance to avert this crisis is to infiltrate the group using an ex-Special Forces war hero turned conservative media pundit named Ted Akers. While Akers's politics make him a hero to the right-wing fringe and no friend to the current Administration, he takes the assignment and what follows is an adrenaline-fueled race against time to stop a President from dying and a country from being ripped apart.

To call Sergio Aragonés a legendary cartoonist would be an understatement. Besides being in every single issue of Mad Magazine for the past 50 years, Sergio is also the creator of Groo the Wanderer, the hilarious character that is a good natured and extremely honest barbarian, but one who consistently finds himself in the middle of all sorts of misadventures because of his unparalleled stupidity and penchant for misunderstanding.

IDW is pleased to offer the one and only Sergio Aragonés' Groo the Wanderer: Artist's Edition, featuring a glorious four-part story showcasing Sergio at his best.

WHAT IS AN ARTIST'S EDITION?

ARTIST'S EDITIONS ARE PRINTED THE SAME SIZE AS THE ORIGINAL ART. While appearing to be in black & white, each page has been scanned in COLOR to mimic as closely as possible the experience of viewing the actual original art—for example, you are able to clearly see paste-overs, blue pencils in the art, editorial notes, art corrections. Each page is printed the same size as drawn, and the paper selected is as close as possible to the original art board.

Question of the Month “WHAT COMIC CHANGED YOUR PERSPECTIVE OF THE MEDIUM?”

“For me, it was HEAVY METAL magazine. Till then I have been reading mostly comics off the newsstand and when I got the first issue in my hand I was introduced to an adult world of genre storytelling by some of the greatest talents from Europe. It's probably when I first fell in love with the work of moebius as well. The idea that comics could be so “ out there” really opened up my thinking and inspired me in so many ways.”

QUEEN CRAB

“A faculty adviser at my university recommended ‘Understanding Comics’ by Scott McCloud, and that got me very gun ho about the potential of comics. After reading ‘Understanding Comics’ I discovered a lot of work and I think my biggest hero was Scott Morse because of his pacing and storytelling. Paul Pope's ‘Escapo’ was a big eye opener. I loved the essays where he wrote about comics. I really loved the giant size of the book and the storytelling. It was visually full of energy and movement.”

GLADSTONE'S SCHOOL FOR WORLD CONQUERORS

“Arzach by Moebius. It was unlike anything else I had ever read. You can tell it's the work of a single creator just doing what he wants without reservation. The world created in those short stories is so lush and surreal. And the story-telling is so well done! It's really unique the way he arranged the panels on the page. Arzach is also a good example of the power of silent/wordless storytelling in comics. It really inspired me to explore more in my own work.”

PLANETOID

“Swamp Thing. Specifically, Alan Moore's run. As a kid, I loved the Swamp Thing movie, and managed to convince my Mom to buy me the trade. I didn't realize just how different it was, both from the movie and from the comics I'd read. So, basically, having a whole bunch of Alan Moore poured into my head as a ten-year old really changed what I thought comics were and what they could be. It may also have resulted in this beard.”

THE STRANGE TALENT OF LUTHER STROBE

“I discovered “The Dark Knight Returns” №1 at just the right age. Everything about it – the writing, the art, the format – told me comics weren't the same anymore.”

THE THIRD DEGREE STEVE NILES

Steve Niles is the creator of the groundbreaking vampire comic series 30 Days of Night, as well as Criminal Macabre and Aleister Arcane. He is currently writing two upcoming Image Comics comics, Crime and Terror, drawn by Scott Morse, and Chin Music, drawn by Tony Harris. He lives in Los Angeles with his girlfriend Monica, two dogs, four cats, and Gil the tortoise.

What are you working on right now?
A stroke, I think. Actually today I'm working on Chin Music and Nosferatu Wars, two of my newest creator-owned books.

What's the best part of your job?
The freedom I have to write and create what I want. In comics these days being able to work without company mandates or having to check in with 11 other writers to finish a script is huge. I check myself often when I start to get stressed. Sure, it can get hard, but at the end of the day I get to write about vampires and robots. I'm very lucky.

What's the worst part of your job?
Getting paid. I finance a lot of the books I do, or work free for backend, so I do a lot of nail biting around the end of the month. As I create more and more projects I own and control, it's getting easier. The more I deal direct with fans/retailers the better.

What's the weirdest part of your job?
The recognition modern creators receive. I grew up not even knowing what most creators looked like. These days our faces are very public. And of course the only time I get recognized is when I'm at Home Depot in my sweats, ripped tee and bed-head.

How did you first discover comics?
I was a maybe 4 years old when I started. In the late 60's, and 70's you could walk down the street without tripping over a place selling comics. They were everywhere. My earliest memory of reading a comic was being in church, so small m y feet didn't go over the seat, and I had a Creepy Magazine in my lap. I remember because my Mom was very upset about the cover and the fact that I was reading it in church.

If you weren't working in comics, what would you be doing?
I'm sure I'd be doing something in publishing, writing or playing music. I've spent my life making things. I don't really know any other way except working retail or being a short order chef – My previous jobs.

What's the best thing a fan has ever said to you?
"Your stuff got me back into comics." I hear that every so often and it really does make me feel good.

What is the single work of which you're most proud?
That's really hard. I was very proud of Mystery Society before it got the axe. I suppose my work with Cal McDonald because I've been at it so long and now there are dozens of comics, novels and maybe a movie. I never get tired of writing him. But really, Freaks of the Heartland is my fave because Greg Ruth made it ten times more beautiful then I ever imagined.

Who is the biggest influence on your work?
Richard Matheson for overall writing and Alan Moore for comics. Forget all the noise around Moore. He's a rock-solid writer. Bernie Wrightson made me want to do comics though.

Own up to one of your guilty pleasures.
I recently watched an Andy Griffith marathon…from my own collection. I have a weakness for some really silly old sitcoms.

What was the last comic book you bought?
Heart by Blair Butler and Kevin Mellon

If you could be someone else for a day, who would it be?
That's easy, Rick Remender. I want to know what it feels like to walk around with such a sumptuous body.

Pick three things you couldn't live without.
My partner Monica Richards, my amazing friends… and my book collection (that includes comics).

What's the strangest thing you have in your house?
A giant African tortoise.

What is one of your favorite places?
Vasquez Rocks. Because I like pretending I'm hunting Gorn.

When was the last time you laughed out loud?

What music are you listening to these days?
Lots of old punk stuff and a lot of soundtracks. Wake up to Bad Brains, work to Russian Circles and Clint Mansell.

What is your favorite film of all time?
This week it's John Carpenter's the THING. It's just about the perfect horror film.

Who is your best friend?
Bernie Wrightson.

What is the worst advice you've ever received?
"Move to LA. The people are so nice."

When was the last time you were truly frightened?
I dunno. When was the last GOP debate?

Name someone you really admire and explain why.
I admire Mike Mignola a lot and I really look up to him. Aside from being an amazing natural talent he is the creators, creator. He does what he wants, never compromises his vision and produces great book after great book. He also has an amazing family. I want to be Mike when I grow up.

What would you like to see happen in comics in the next 12 months?
I'd like to see moves to expand the market and I think creator-owned is the key. The leotard boys have had a 70-year shot and they've done all they can. It is abundantly clear that, aside from the summer films, the general public doesn't care about reading superhero comics so it is up to creators doing indies to get out there and show the world what ELSE can be done with words and pictures.

What the world needs now is…
Love, love, love and new comics.

A.K.A. GN

Skatoon Productions

In the 1970's, "grindhouse" cinema was breaking the boundaries of filmmaking with new, often extreme, approaches to the ideas of violence, crime, sexuality, and even humor, but the comic book world was a different story. Decades later, comic books have "grown up". Books like A.K.A. are exploring these same extremes, breaking their own boundaries of the medium, and channeling the past now in order to deliver the type of "grindhouse" story the comic book world failed to deliver then.

"The Black Terror of Harlem", aka, Adrian Truelove, is the crazy SOB who managed to earn one million dollars on his head by fathering the child of a mob boss' daughter. Guy Doyle, the boss' right-hand man, has been given the order to find Truelove and make an example of him. Guy Doyle is the best of the best but "The Black Terror" earned his name for a reason and he isn't going to make it easy for Doyle.

As a love-letter to "grindhouse" cinema, A.K.A. pulls out all the stops for fans of the crude and aggressive action cinema of the 1970's. Everything from the classic "film opening" sequence, to the "aged" page design, draws readers into this modern reincarnation of cult cinema. There are a lot of comics out there (and other forms of media for that matter) attempting to channel an era and style of decades past, but A.K.A. is a book that does it right and does it with complete honesty.

Jack Jackson delivers an amazing pair of nonfiction stories in Fantagraphics' compilation of Texas history. A historian and a master comics artist, Jackson first pulls forward a seldom heard voice in American history—that of the Mexican immigrant. Following Juan Seguín, a Mexican citizen from an influential family, Jackson is able to intimately demonstrate the pressures of racial tensions and the tides of public opinion in the largely lawless Texas frontier.

The reader follows Seguín as he took leadership roles on the battle field in war times and in civil service in peace times. He was often the voice of reason between Mexican and European settlers, showing them to have common cause, first in Texas freedom from Mexican rule and later when the independent nation of Texas was absorbed into the US. Seguín was hated by both sides during his life — by the Mexican nationals he fought, who shared his heritage but not his goal of an independent Texas; and by the swelling tide of European settlers who distrusted his race and laid the blame for the deaths of heroes like Crockett and Bowie at the feet of all Spanish-speaking people, whether they considered themselves Texan citizens or not. The story of his life is fascinating, frustrating, and real, set with Jackson's lush illustrations that show a love of detail and accuracy.

Fantagraphics does not leave us with Seguín, though. Jackson's study of Texan history continued well into the Civil War years. His second impressive epic again resounds with racial tensions, warring camps, and the unhealed wounds of frontier divided. He follows this time the story of the Taylor and Sutton families though one of the nastiest multi-generational feuds in Texas History. Based on the autobiography of a gunslinger and one of the longest-lived fighters in the feud, Wes Hardin, Jackson pulls the reader through decades of heart-wrenching murders and vengeances. Until law was established by respected leaders, Texas bled—and through these two men's accounts, the reader understands its history in a visceral and personal sense.

ALIEN: THE ILLUSTRATED STORY ARTIST'S EDITION

Titan Books UK

In space no one can hear you scream. In the comic shop you will scream with delight as this classic science fiction story is once again made available for the first time in over 30 years.

In the pre-VHS/DVD/DVR world of 1979, if you wanted to be part of a film or TV show your only way of doing so was with book novelizations and comic book adaptations. In some cases the creators were working off early screenplays and you got more than what even the films themselves showed.

Now Titan Books is offering Alien: The Illustrated Story Artist Edition which showcases the art and storytelling of Walt Simonson in a 14" x17" hard cover restored and remastered from the original artwork that will look great next to IDW's Thor Artist edition.

Walt's art combines top storytelling along with character designs and scenery that are true to Ridley Scott and HR Giger. This special edition even includes never before published color tryout pages and sketches. Not to be overlooked is the script by the legendary Archie Goodwin and this special edition includes Goodwin's complete annotated script. Add an interview with Simonson and that he signs all the initial print run of this artist edition makes this 96 page special edition a must have.

For those of you just wanting to read the original graphic novel there is the full color edition of Alien: The Illustrated Story Graphic Novel. The full 64 page story as originally published by Heavy Metal in 1979 available in full color remastered from the original art.

Here is a chance for old and new readers to marvel at the work of Archie Goodwin and Walter Simonson and see why they had fans from the days of Warren magazines, Gore Creatures, and Witzend to Manhunter, Dr. Fate, and Star Slammers.

THE OFFERING: THE STORY OF EKALAVYA AND DRONACHARYA GN

(W) Hansa Pathak (A/CA) Naresh Kumar

The Mahabharata is an enduring epic about the ancient Pandava-Kaurava feud over the Kuru throne. Traditionally, the Pandavas people are thought of as the "good side," but there is one story that casts a shadow on that notion: the story of Ekalavya. Ekalavya's skill in archery is said to have possibly rescued the Kauravas from defeat. Ekalavya gave away his most important asset as guru dakshina so that the guru-shishya parampara (teacher-disciple lineage) would not falter. Narad, the great rishi, who despises lies but loves trouble, is determined to make this story of Ekalavya live on. And it is on the battlefield of Kurukshetra, where the rectification of injustice is sought at all costs, that he chooses to retell the tale. (STK464923) (C: 0-1-2)

In fact, he claimed power for his own by waging a horrible war that threatened to destroy the entire world. And to make matters worse, he was opposed in this battle for all existence by none other than his own father. See how Zeus takes power for himself as he picks up his famous sword of storms for the first time and leads the rise of the Olympians! (STK464921) (C: 0-1-2)

ANNA AND FROGA: WANT A GUMBALL? HC

(W/A/CA) Anouk Ricard

Anouk Ricard's Anna and Froga features the adventures of a little girl named Anna and her gang of animal friends. Anna's best friend is the titular Froga, and they often hang out with Bubu the dog (an aspiring artist), Christopher the gourmand earthworm, and Ron (a practical joker of a cat). Whether the conflict is driven by eating too many French fries, bossing around Johnny the Tuna, or trying to beat a difficult video game, you know that Anna, Froga, Bubu, Ron, and Christopher will come out all right in the end, which makes the layers of confusion they pile on one another all the funnier. Ricard's characters are sweet without ever veering into preciousness, as they constantly find opportunities for a laugh at one another's expense.

BIRDSEYE BRISTOE HC

(W/A/CA) Dan Zettwoch

It's a storyline we know all too well: "A mysterious stranger comes to town." Only the town is not really a town and the stranger is a gigantic cell-phone tower. The town is Birdseye Bristoe — a portmanteau name created from an interstate sign that points to two real towns — and it has only one real permanent resident, an old-timer known as Uncle. His teenaged great-niece and -nephew visit occasionally, though the town doesn't have much to offer apart from an adult superstore, a gas station, and a tackle shop. Birdseye Bristoe brims with larger-than-life personalities, hilarious anecdotes, references to midwestern/mid-southern pop culture, and diagrams of the cell-tower/cross-construction process. Included are Ware's frustrated doodles for his book covers, angry personal assaults on friends, half-finished comic strips, and lengthy and tiresome fulminations of personal disappointments both social and sexual, as well as his now-beloved drawings of the generally miserable inhabitants of the city of Chicago. It was a turning point in ancient history. It inspires men to greatness. It was the foundation of one of the greatest and most prevailing global peace efforts of the 20th century. It was the greatest feat — and the tragic death — of a man whose legacy will never be forgotten. "CORPSE OF THE IMJIN!" AND OTHER STORIES by Harvey Kurtzman, et al.

$28.99 / HC / 240 pgs / BW / 7 x 10

MAD would have been enough to cement Harvey Kurtzman's reputation as one of the titans of American comics, but he also created two other landmarks: the scrupulously-researched and superbly-crafted war comics Two-Fisted Tales and Frontline Combat. Like every book in the new Fantagraphics EC line, "Corpse on the Imjin!" will feature extensive essays and notes by EC experts — but Kurtzman's stories, as vital, powerful, and affecting and as when they were created 60 years ago, make this a must-have.

OUT OF THE SHADOWS

by Mort Meskin
Edited by Steven Brower

$22.99 / SC / 192 pgs / FC / 7.5 x 10.5

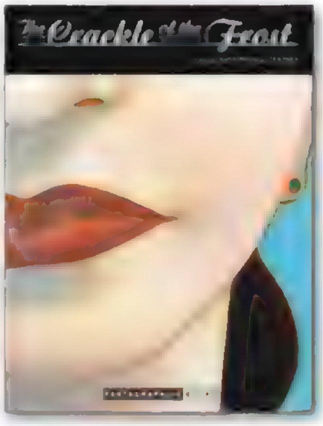
Out of the Shadows collects the very best of legendary Golden Age comics artist Mort Meskin's stories from the '30s, '40s, and '50s and features work in every genre Meskin worked in: super-hero, adventure, kid gangs, romance, crime, westerns, science fiction, and horror. Meskin set a new a high bar for comics in the first three decades of the medium, and this book will be a revelation to both the casual graphic novel reader and the ardent fan.

CAPTAIN EASY VOL. 3

by Roy Crane
Edited by Rick Norwood

$39.99 / HC / 144 pgs / FC / 10.5 x 14.75

The third volume in Fantagraphics' ongoing reprint of Roy Crane's legendary action-comedy comic strip features what many consider the absolute peak of the series: "Temple of the Swinks." This, plus other rollicking stories of high adventure featuring (inevitably) pirates and (just as inevitably) beautiful women, all set in exotic locales, makes this latest volume a worthy addition to this popular series.



THE CRACKLE OF THE FROST

by Lorenzo Mattotti and Jorge Zentner

$19.99 / HC / 120 pgs / FC / 8.5 x 11

Following in the wake of Fantagraphics' publication last year of the extraordinary Stigmata and The Raven, Lorenzo Mattotti ups the visual ante with The Crackle Of The Frost, a graphic novel masterpiece of love and loss featuring panel after panel of sumptuous full-color paintings, as if Edward Hopper had suddenly decided to jump into comics.

BETA TESTING THE APOCALYPSE

Certified Cool!

by Tom Kaczynski

$19.99 / SC / 136 pgs / FC / 6.5 x 9.5

While Tom Kaczynski's comics share many of the obsessions found in the prose work of J.G. Ballard, with riffs on dystopian modernity, bleak man-made landscapes and the psychological effects of technology, Kaczynki's visual storytelling adds an archi-tectural dimension that the written word alone lacks. Beta Testing The Apocalypse includes 10 short stories, depicting the immense political and technological structures and spaces we inhabit that subtly affect and define the limits of who we are and the freedoms we presume to enjoy. Tom Kaczynki is a new, unique voice in the comic firmament.

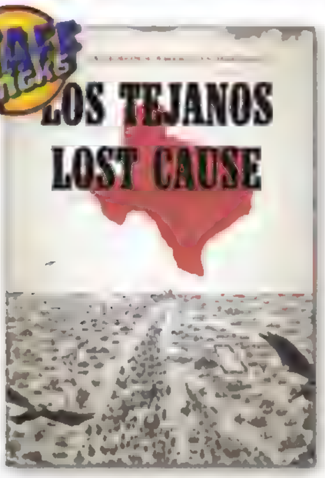
DUNGEON QUEST BOOK THREE

by Joe Daly

[illegible] SC / 288 pgs / BW / 6 x 8.25

Expanded to more than twice the length of the previous volumes, Dungeon Quest Book Three continues the adventures of Millennium Boy, Steve, Lash and Nerdgirl as they traverse mysterious underground realms. This latest installment of the stoner D&D epic brings a whole new level of bizarre comedy, rousing adventure and ass-kicking action — all staged in front of fantastic backdrops replete with strange vegetation, ancient ruins and steam-punk imagery.



JACK JACKSON'S AMERICAN HISTORY: Los Tejanos and Lost Cause

by Jack Jackson

Introduction by Ron Hansen

$35.00 HC / 320 pgs / BW / 8 x 10

After creating what many consider the first underground comic, God Nose, in 1964 and co-founding Rip-Off Press in 1969, Jack Jackson began writing and drawing short historical comics about Texas history. Fantagraphics is proud to bring his graphic histories back into print, beginning with this first volume, reprinting two of his long-form histories: Los Tejanos, which chronicles the Texas-Mexican war between 1835 and 1875, and Lost Cause, which documents the violent reaction to Reconstruction by Texans. Jackson's work is as known for its rigorous research as for its chiseled, raw-boned visual approach, reproducing the time and place with an uncanny verisimilitude.

NAKED CARTOONISTS

NAKED CARTOONISTS

Introduction by Frank Stack

$22.99 SC / 144 pgs / FC / 8 x 10

New Brunswick, New Jersey, Thursday, September 14, 1922. Reverend Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills take a stroll in the town's park in the evening. Shots are heard. 2 days later, their bodies are found laying on the ground very neatly next to each other with her hand on his thigh, love letters strewn around them, the scarf on her neck covering up the deep bloody slit in it. The perfect ingredients for a juicy scandal and fascinating investigation which the nation's press hungrily devours. Alas, no clues or evidence are sufficient to make an indictment stick. Where's My Shoggoth?

WHERE'S MY SHOGGOTH? HC

Archaia Studios Press

"It was a terrible, indescribable thing vaster than any subway train—a shapeless congeries of protoplasmic bubbles, faintly self-luminous, and with myriads of temporary eyes forming and un-forming…"
— H. P. Lovecraft, At The Mountains of Madness

Are you up-to-date on your Cthulhu mythos? Can you tell the difference between the Deep Ones and Sahuagin? Do you know what creature is described above? It's a shoggoth of course! Created by the Elder Things to build their underwater cities, these mass shape-changing mounds of black and eyes eventually developed consciousness and rebelled against their masters.

Now you can brush up on your creature knowledge and introduce kids to H. P. Lovecraft at the same time! Archaia's new book Where's My Shoggoth? combines Dr. Seuss-type rhymes with accurately illustrated Lovecraftian creatures to bring you the story of a kid and his cat going on a search to find Blinky, a pet shoggoth, and bumping into various creatures along the way.

Featuring glow-in-the-dark elements on the cover, this book is, surprisingly, great for all ages.

THE ADVENTURES OF THE PRINCESS & MR. WHIFFLE: THE THING BENEATH THE BED SC

(W) Patrick Rothfuss
(A/CA) Nate Taylor
The Adventures of the Princess and Mr. Whiffle is a dark twist on the classic children's picture-book. I think of it as "Calvin and Hobbes meets Coraline", with some Edward Gorey mixed in. Simply said: This is not a book for children. It looks like a children's book. It has pictures. It has a saccharine-sweet title. The main characters are a little girl and her teddy bear. But all of that is just protective coloration. The truth is, this is a book for adults with a dark sense of humor and an appreciation of old-school faerie tales. There are three separate endings to the book... one ending is sweet, another horrible, and the last is the true ending... the one with teeth. (STK464815) (C: 0-1-2)

Just in time for the approach of the reputedly transformative year 2012, comes this comprehensive collection of extraterrestrial lifeforms as visualized and vividly rendered by Pat Lee of Transformers, DC and Marvel comics fame. VALIANT 2012 HARBINGER #1

The return of the Valiant Universe continues as the first superhero legend of the modern age is reborn, from New York Times best-selling author Joshua Dysart (Unknown Soldier, BPRD) and Harvey Award nominee Khari Evans (Immortal Iron Fist, Carbon Grey)

READ MINDS. BEND STEEL. BREAK ALL THE RULES.
Teenager Peter Stenchek is out of work, on the skids and -- unbeknownst to him -- a psionic-powered "harbinger" with the potential to reshape the course of human history. Toyo Harada is a wealthy business magnate, a respected philanthropist and the most powerful harbinger of all -- or so he thought. As they forge an uneasy alliance, will Harada offer Peter a chance for redemption -- or attempt to induct him into a secret network of conspiracy, subversion and control? Peter is about to discover that he's not alone in the world and, soon, the generation who has nothing will take on the man who has everything.

Joseph J. Darowski

THE AGES OF SUPERMAN: ESSAYS ON THE MAN OF STEEL IN CHANGING TIMES SC

(W) Joseph J. Darowski

Since Superman first appeared in Action Comics #1 in 1938, the superhero has changed with the times to remain a relevant icon of American popular culture. This collection explores the evolution of the Superman character and demonstrates how his alterations mirror historical changes in American society. These essays examine Superman's patriotic heroism during World War II, his increase in power in the early years of the Cold War, his death and resurrection at the end of the Cold War, and his recent dramatic reimagining. This volume reveals as much about America as it does about the champion of Truth, Justice, and the American Way. For the millions who know and love the great pantheon of superheroes, here's a brilliant and wildly entertaining exploration of the phenomenon — the story of how our culture gave birth to these otherworldly heroes, how they've changed as we've changed, and how they've transformed us. Here is a mind-jolting look at one of the most ubiquitous, beloved, and misunderstood of American creations: our superheroes. Much more than a book about comics or pop ephemera, Supergods is a polymathic, intellectually exhilarating book about us: our culture, our history, our future, and the heroic power of the stories we tell. SUPERMAN: THE HIGH-FLYING HISTORY OF AMERICA'S MOST ENDURING HERO HC

(W) Larry Tye
Legions of fans from Boston to Buenos Aires can recite the story of the child born Kal-El, scion of the doomed planet Krypton, who was rocketed to Earth as an infant, raised by humble Kansas farmers, and rechristened Clark Kent. Known to law-abiders and evildoers alike as Superman, he was destined to become the invincible champion of all that is good and just. Tye takes us back to Superman's birth at the hands of Jerry Siegel and Joe Shuster, his young, nerdy creators. He introduces readers to the cast of characters who spun and sketched the Last Son of Krypton's adventures and played him on the little screen and the big one. Superman's tale is not just the tale of an American hero but a lens through which to see our best selves. (STK464624) (C: 0-1-1)

LEN BROWN... MARTIAN COLLABORATOR!

Fifty years ago, Len Brown was an integral part of an insidious invasion from the red planet Mars... via a gruesome and colorful trading card series from Topps Company.

Now, in honor of the 50th anniversary of the Mars Attacks phenomenon, Topps once again brings the invaders from Mars back to Earth in a commemorative card series celebrating one of pop culture's shining moments!

PREVIEWS: What are the origins of the Mars Attacks concept?*

Len Brown: The Topps Company had some success with a trading card series based on the Civil War, back in 1961. The product depicted a lot of "blood & guts" battle scenes and the kids picked right up on it giving Topps a big success with this release. In 1962, we looked for lightning to strike twice, by using that formula once again. We chose the standard "War of the Worlds" science fiction theme, and packed each picture card with lots of action and excitement. Though Mars Attacks didn't have very wide distribution when it was first released, the kids who saw it became immediate fans.

P: What was the development process like for the Mars Attacks storyline? Did you mainly work alone, or did you have roundtable sessions with other Topps people?*

LB: Woody Gelman, my boss and mentor, headed the Topps New Product Development Department. He was a big fan of the old pulp science fiction magazine Amazing Stories, and was also a collector of trading cards from the 1930s & 1940s. We considered several science fiction themes, together brainstorming different concepts that we thought would make for a great visual experience on trading cards. Hopefully, kids couldn't resist collecting them when they saw it. We were about to release our new product as Attack From Space cards, but eventually changed the name to Mars Attacks just before the product was released.

P: How was the art team of Wally Wood, Bob Powell and Norm Saunders brought together?*

LB: I was a big fan of the EC science fiction comic books, Weird Science and Weird Fantasy in the 1950s. My favorite artist, Wally Wood, regularly drew covers for them, so he seemed like a natural to work on a sci-fi picture card collection for Topps. Bob Powell had previously penciled our Civil War trading card set and he understood exactly the feel and excitment that we were looking for in the Mars Attacks series. Norm Saunders had created some of the most beautiful Civil War paintings and we were very anxious to work with him again. We loved the fact he had worked in so many different genres in the pulp magazine field and comic book arena. The "age of illustration" was vanishing from the magazine industry by the early 1960s, and some very talented artists were looking for new work. We were lucky to be able to reach out to Wally, Bob and Norm and have them take on some Topps assignments.

P: How were the Mars Attacks cards first introduced to American consumers?

LB: We produced a small quantity of product and placed the cards on the counters of stores that were close to schools, mainly in Brooklyn, where Topps was located. We monitored the sales for a week or two and felt there was a lot of interest in the series. After that "initial test" we moved forward and shipped the Mars Attacks cards into a few different cities. No ads... not much publicity. They found their way onto store counters from candy and tobacco wholesalers who distributed trading card products at that time.

P: Did you realize how controversial the Mars Attacks cards would prove to be with parents? Was that your goal?

LB: Woody and I were really surprised by the complaints that started to appear in the local press about the Mars Attacks series. While comic books had been under attack during the past decade, it never struck us that we were creating trading cards that would also face similar scrutiny from the media. That certainly wasn't what we were expecting.

P: Due to complaints by parents, several of the more sensational card images were altered to soften their violent/suggestive content. Will the uncensored original images be seen in this new 50th Anniversary series?

LB: At the request of Topps management, the original, uncensored images were altered by Norm Saunders — directly on the paintings — prior to publication. Some of these included "Prize Captive" and "Beast and the Beauty", among others, which originally featured more revealing attire. Unfortunately, these images were never photographed in their original state and no record remains.

P: Looking back at the creation, marketing, sales, and eventual forced halt of production of Mars Attacks*, what was your most memorable moment?*

LB: Several months after Topps released Mars Attacks, we received several dozen letters written by children from one particular school, with a common theme: "Please give us more sports and educational cards. We don't think the Mars Attacks series is something children should collect." We suspected that this was dictated as a class assignment from an overzealous teacher… and our guess was proven correct when one of the letter writers added a postscript explaining that "We really love your cards. Our teacher is having our entire class write these letters and sending them off to you. Please keep selling Mars Attacks*!"*

On a personal level, I am excited that decades after Mars Attacks' first release, we are now seeing a new comic book series (from IDW, see Page 150), new toys and collectibles (see Pages 397 & 432) being marketed, and the resurrection of the original trading card set, along with the creation of brand new artwork. I never would have imagined this happening 50 years after The Topps Company had published the original Mars Attacks picture card collection!

LANDMARK PEOPLE & EVENTS: BUD PLANT

Early sales for us were made solely at conventions and through very-limited mail order operations. Recognizing that distribution was essential, I began contacting the numerous comic distributors who much to my surprise, were not as excited about the "shirt idea" as I was. This was not only a non-traditional product for them but it also came with a non-traditional pricing structure. At some point, I found a receptive ear with Bud Plant. Bud had operated a chain a retail stores (Comics & Comix), and was now one of the most respected comic distributors around. Bud took a chance on me and our products while unknowingly ushering-in what was to become a major profit-center in the comics biz...merchandise. It's difficult today to imagine a comics industry (or Diamond PREVIEWS), without shirts, statues, action figures or any of the thousands of comics-related goodies that we've become accustomed to. Thank you Bud for your vision and for introducing the Graphitti Designs product line to the comics retailer.

TOKIDOKI CACTUS: ROCKER VINYL FIGURE

(A) Simone Legno

The cactus is a sign of protection. Kids are naïve and vulnerable and need protection. A monster into a cactus suit would not have made much sense in my vision of things. SANDy and her friends zip themselves into cactus suits because they think the world is a cold and scary place, and they need som armore to face it. The cactus is the conserver of water, and water means life. The Cactus Friends for me are the representation of life, of being fragile and strong at the same time.. and pure like water. THE DARK KNIGHT RETURNS: BATMAN -HUNT THE DARK KNIGHT-

As one of the most popular comic book superheroes of all time, it's no surprise that the Dark Knight has appeared quite frequently in Kotobukiya's lineup of DC Comics ARTFX Statues. And now, Bruce Wayne is back in an incredible reimagining of one of the key scenes in Frank Miller's masterpiece, THE DARK KNIGHT RETURNS: BATMAN -HUNT THE DARK KNIGHT-! Frank Miller's Dark Knight Returns Batman is much thicker and heavier than most representations of the character, and that's quite apparent here. The bulky Dark Knight kneels over the prone Joker, holding him down with one hand on his collar while pulling the other back in preparation for the final strike! Perfectly recreating the artwork, the statue is intricately detailed with special attention to Batman's powerful musculature, the rumpled clothing of the evil clown, the furious expression on the dark hero's face, and of course Joker's maniacal laughing. The painting too reflects Miller's artwork with stark colors and bold strokes.Sculpted by Junnosuke Abe, The Dark Knight Returns Batman VS Joker stands nearly 12 inches tall (1/6th scale) on a special display base that really shows off the action of the scene. Miller's Dark Knight duo looks great on its own or alongside any of the other dynamic Batman statues from Kotobukiya like the Black Costume ARTFX Statue or the upcoming Batman Dark Knight Rises ARTFX Statue (sold separately)!

BLACK WIDOW PERFUME FOR WOMEN

Russian Spy. Trained Assassin. World Class Ballerina. Girl from Legal Department. Like changing clothes in the back of a chauffeured car, strip away the façade and live that life — and many more. A clear shot of citrus and fresh berries create a statement which slowly gives way to a sensual caramel and honey note; but kept too sweet by a pairing of dry Australian Sandalwood. Then, like a spider spindling silently from above, Black Widow dries down to a deeply desirous gourmand delight of bitter chocolate, clear patchouli and praline. This is a fragrance for those who can navigate the high-tension tightrope of love and duty-and who knows what it takes to be called Black Widow. Warrior-maiden and consort of the blood god Khorne, the name of Valkia the Bloody is feared among all the tribes of the north by both friend and foe alike. From her earliest days as a shield bearer for her father King Merroc, she has known nothing but unending warfare and the brutal politics of the tribal leaders, and soon reaches out to seize power for herself. Though her feral beauty might attract unlikely suitors and her enemies may plot against her in secret, Valkia holds the patronage of the Ruinous Powers, and Khorne will not allow his chosen queen to fall. PATHFINDER RPG: BLOOD OF ANGELS PLAYER COMPANION

Idolized and adored — but also regarded with jealousy and envy — the Aasimars of Golarion count among their ancestors the greatest forces of good throughout the Great Beyond. They are the descendants of majestic angels; beatific celestials and mysterious-but-kindly outsiders who have long sought to guide and protect the mortal realm. Yet merely having the blood of angels in your veins does not guarantee security in life, nor does it ensure a kindly soul — few villains are more despised than those who have wandered so far from grace as the fallen Aasimar. This book, a companion volume to Blood of Fiends, explores all that it is to be an Aasimar, including an extensive discussion of Aasimar culture and society, but also presenting numerous variations on the standard Aasimar character. Rules for Aasimars of specific celestial heritages (Angels, Archons, Agathions, Azatas, Garudas, and Peris), new feats and magic, variant Aasimar abilities and features, new options for Bards, Clerics, Inquisitors, Oracles, Sorcerers, Summoners, and more await revelation in this Pathfinder Player Companion! TALES OF VESPERIA BLU-RAY/DVD COMBO PACK

A long time has passed since the end of a massive war between humans and monsters. A new type of energy named "aer" was discovered. When crystallized, this substance became the energy source for "blastia," an ancient civilization's technology that provided a wide array of essential abilities for humanity. Despite its manipulation, mankind still has little knowledge of what exactly is "aer." On a mission to eradicate a horde of monsters near the town of Shizotania, a group of knights comes across a strange surge of "aer." Yuri Lowell and Flynn Scifo are two new members fresh out of the academy of this knight division. Both are childhood friends who went separate ways, but ended up meeting each other once again while enlisting to serve the Empire. (STK465441) (C: 1-1-3)

And now, everyone's favorite neighborhood hero is back in an all-new Fine Art Statue, SPIDER-MAN UNLEASHED!

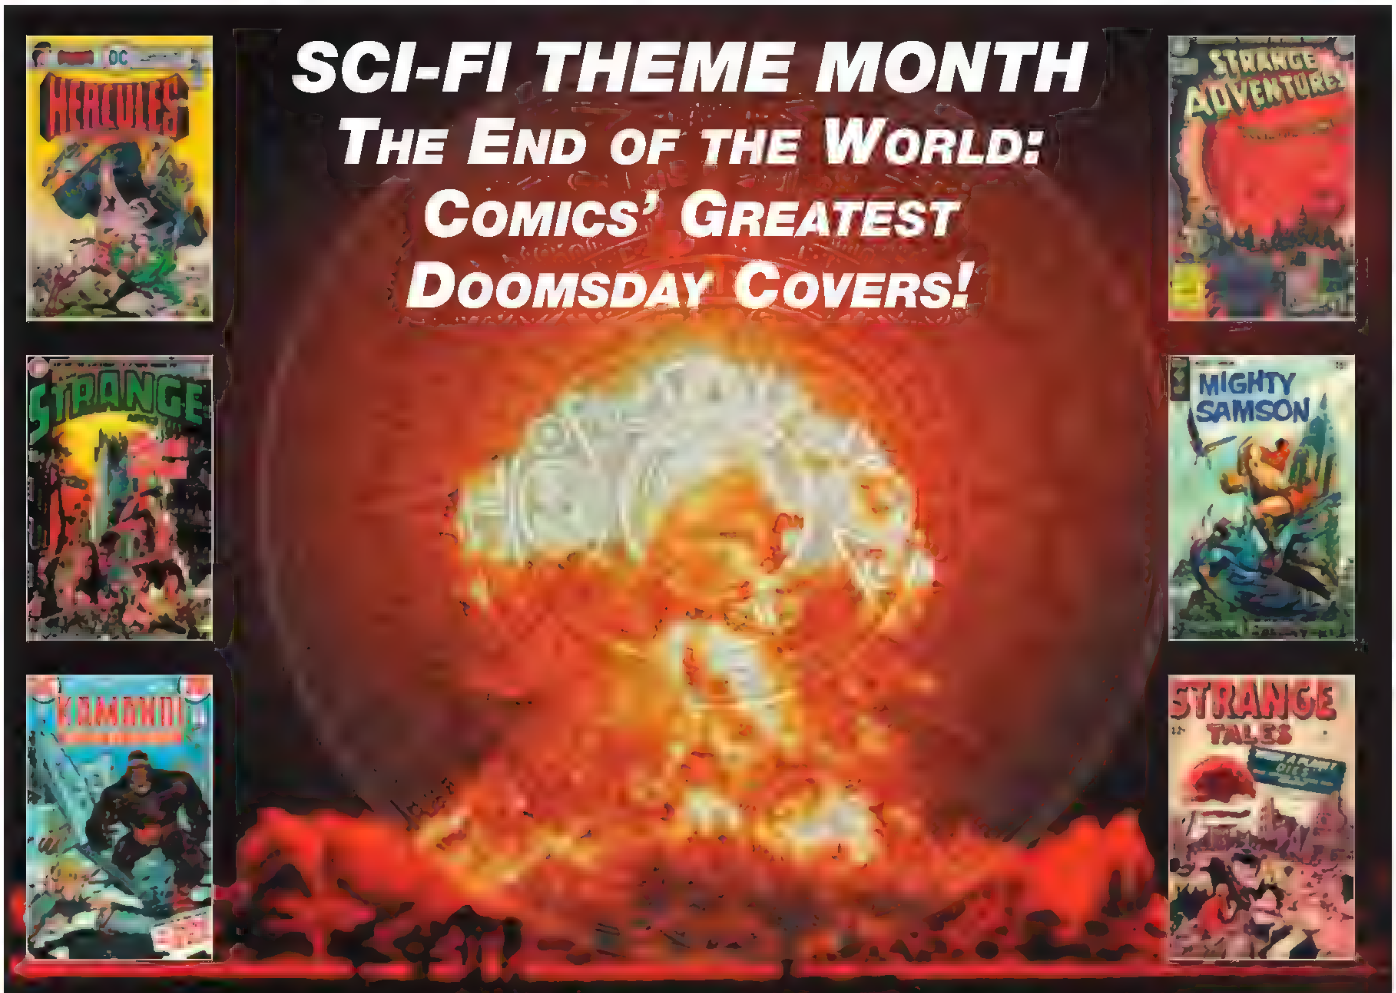
THE END OF THE WORLD: COMICS' GREATEST DOOMSDAY COVERS!



People have been telling stories about the end of the world since mankind started telling stories to try to explain the world around them. Forces far greater than our early ancestors were seemingly at play back in those ancient times, and our ancestors created these stories in an attempt to explain the unexplainable around them… even going so far as to imagine what the end of all they knew would be like.

Armageddon! Doomsday! The End of Days! Monday.

And in this year of 2012, the thought of something putting out the lights on our world permanently is more relevant than ever, thanks in no small part to the Mayan calendar… which runs out on December 21, 2012. Some folks have taken this as a prophecy that we won't need to worry about the small stuff anymore after 12/21/12, because the Earth will cease to exist. Of course, there are others who think the Mayans just got lazy and decided not to extend their calendar's dates out any further than 12/21/12 because, frankly, it was a ridiculously long time away, anyway.

The "End of the World" or "Doomsday" concept has long been a staple of science fiction and popular culture, and the comic books have done their part to carry on this apocalyptic genre over the years.

Our FlipSide feature this month pays tribute to some of comics' best Doomsday covers, and the many many ways that our little blue planet might get snuffed out…
